

of your thighs

i am so very glad that the soul inside me Hollers for thou comest and your hands are the snow

and thy fingers are the rain,

and i hear

the screech of dissonant

flowers, and most of all i hear your stepping

freakish feet

feet incorrigible

ragging the world,